DEPARTMENT OF TRANSPORTATION
OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY
WASHINGTON, D.C.

Issued by the Department of Transportation on August 21, 2020

NOTICE OF ACTION TAKEN -- DOCKET DOT-OST-2020-0119

This serves as notice to the public of the action described below, taken by the Department official indicated (no additional confirming order will be issued in this matter).

Applicant: VOLGA-DNEPR AIRLINES LLC (Volga-Dnepr)

Date Filed: August 5, 2020

Relief requested: Emergency exemption under 49 USC § 40109(g) to permit the applicant to operate five, one-way, all-cargo charter flights, using its AN-124-100 aircraft, carrying outsized cargo on behalf of The Boeing Company (Boeing), from Fort Worth, Texas; Fort Lauderdale, Florida; Wichita, Kansas; and Charleston, South Carolina; to Everett, and/or Seattle, Washington, and from Everett, and/or Seattle, Washington, to Charleston, South Carolina, on or around August 22, 2020-September 20, 2020. The applicant states that each flight will carry outsized aircraft parts, components, and aircraft engines, including Boeing B767 horizontal stabilizers, wing center boxes, upper and lower lobes, pressure bulkheads, GEnx-1B aircraft engines, GEnx engine inlets, and Boeing B777 thrust reversers and fan cowlings. The applicant asserts that the aircraft parts, components, and aircraft engines are related to the manufacture of the Boeing B767, B787, and B777 commercial aircraft. The applicant further asserts that Boeing needs the subject lift to avoid delays in production lines for the B767, B787, and B777 commercial aircraft; that the outsized aircraft parts, components, and aircraft engines are too large for transportation on commercially available U.S.-carrier aircraft; and that surface transportation is not feasible because of the size of the cargo and the urgency of the shipment.

DOT analyst: David R. Christofano, 202-366-0584

Responsive pleadings: Volga-Dnepr served its application on those U.S. carriers operating large all-cargo aircraft. Each carrier indicated that it did not have aircraft available to conduct the proposed operations and that it had no comment or did not oppose grant of the requested authority.

Statutory Standards: Under 49 USC § 40109(g), we may authorize a foreign air carrier to carry commercial traffic between U.S. points (i.e., cabotage traffic) under limited circumstances. Specifically, we must find that the authority is required in the public interest; that because of an emergency created by unusual circumstances not arising in the normal course of business the traffic cannot be accommodated by U.S. carriers holding certificates under 49 USC § 41102; that all possible efforts have been made to place the traffic on U.S. carriers; and that the transportation is necessary to avoid unreasonable hardship to the traffic involved (an additional required finding, concerning emergency transportation during labor disputes, was not relevant here).

DISPOSITION

Action: Approved.

Action date: August 21, 2020

Effective dates of authority granted: August 22, 2020-September 20, 2020.

Basis for approval: We are granting Volga-Dnepr's request to operate the proposed five one-way flights (described above), on behalf of Boeing. We found that its request met all the relevant criteria of 49 USC § 40109(g) for the grant of an exemption of this type, and that the grant was required in the public interest. Specifically, we were persuaded that the need to move the cargo in order to avoid delays in production lines for Boeing's B767, B787, and B777 commercial aircraft; the fact that the cargo could not be transported by surface transportation because of the size and urgency of the shipment; and the unique, outsized nature of the cargo, constituted an emergency not arising in the normal course of business. Moreover, based on the representations of the U.S. carriers, we concluded that no U.S. carrier had aircraft available that could be used to conduct the operations at issue here. We also found that grant of this authority would prevent unreasonable hardship to Boeing. Finally, we found that the applicant was qualified to perform its proposed operations.

We may amend, modify, or revoke the authority granted in this Notice at any time without hearing at our discretion.
