COMPLAINT OF KAM PING CHAN

1. This complaint arises out of Air Canada’s non-compliance with the Department’s rules regarding consumers’ right to be refunded for flights to or from the United States (“U.S. Flights”) cancelled by airlines, even for reasons outside the carriers’ control, as described in the Department’s “Enforcement Notice Regarding Refunds by Carriers Given the Unprecedented Impact of the COVID-19 Public Health Emergency on Air Travel”¹ (“Enforcement Notice”).
2. This complaint also arises out of Air Canada’s application of its refund policies, which constitutes an unfair or deceptive practice within the meaning of 49 U.S.C. §

¹ Enforcement Notice Regarding Refunds by Carriers Given the Unprecedented Impact of the COVID-19 Public Health Emergency on Air Travel (April 3, 2020) at https://www.transportation.gov/airconsumer/enforcement_notice_refunds_apr_3_2020.

See also 14 CFR § 259.5(b)(5), and Enhancing Airline Passenger Protections, 76 Fed. Reg. 23110-01, at 23129 (Apr. 25, 2011).

41712². According to 14 CFR § 399.80(1)(l), it is the policy of the Department to regard as an unfair or deceptive practice or unfair method of competition the practices enumerated in paragraphs (a) through (n) of this section by a ticket agent of any size and the practice enumerated in paragraph(s) by a ticket agent that sells air transportation online and is not considered a small business under the Small Business Administration's size standards set forth in 13 CFR 121.201:

(l) Failing or refusing to make proper refunds promptly when service cannot be performed as contracted or representing that such refunds are obtainable only at some other point, thus depriving persons of the immediate use of the money to arrange other transportation, or forcing them to suffer unnecessary inconveniences and delays or requiring them to accept transportation at higher cost, or under less desirable circumstances, or on less desirable aircraft than that represented at the time of sale.

FACTS

A. Flight cancelled by Air Canada

3. On January 30, 2020, I purchased a ticket for a roundtrip flight on Air Canada from Vancouver (YVR) to Honolulu (HNL) departing on May 31, 2020 (Attachment 1). I booked the flight via Expedia for TD, their URL is: <https://www.expediafortd.com/>.
4. On April 9, 2020, I learned that my flight was cancelled by Air Canada (Attachment 2).
5. On April 28, 2020, I contacted Air Canada Customer Services via Phone to request a refund for the cancelled flight, but my request was denied. I was offered a Voucher/Credit. I did not accept the voucher/credit. On June 25, 2020, I contacted Air Canada again via Facebook Messenger to request a refund for the cancelled flight, but my request was denied. I was offered a Voucher/Credit (Attachment 3). I did not accept the voucher/credit.

² Under 49 USC § 41712, the Department is authorized to investigate and decide whether a U.S. air carrier, foreign air carrier, or ticket agent engaged in an unfair or deceptive practice in air transportation or the sale of air transportation. The Department is also authorized to issue orders to stop an unfair or deceptive practice after notice and opportunity for a hearing.

6. There are no additional person(s) attached to this claim.

B. Air Canada's refund policy for cancelled flights

7. Air Canada's current policy is that customers who purchased nonrefundable flight tickets are not entitled to receive full refunds for flights cancelled or changed by the carrier due to reasons outside its control, including cancellations attributed to the COVID-19 pandemic. Air Canada only offers flight vouchers or credits in such situations and claims in its United States English website that "in accordance with government regulations", that such bookings are ineligible for a refund (Attachments 4 and 5).

C. Air Canada's obligations

8. Air Canada is an airline that operates flights from and to the United States and is therefore subject to the Department's jurisdiction for such flights and bound by the rules enunciated in the Enforcement Notice, which apply to U.S. and foreign airlines operating flights from, to and within the United States.
9. In its Enforcement Notice, and based on existing federal regulation, the Department reminds airlines about their obligation to offer prompt refunds for flights significantly delayed or cancelled by the carriers, even if the reason of such flight disruptions are outside the carrier's control, and regardless of the nonrefundability or cancellation penalty provisions of the ticket purchased by the affected consumers.

10. In page 2 of its Enforcement Notice, the Department lists the actions non-complying airlines must take to avoid enforcement action, as follows:

- a. the carrier contacts, in a timely manner, the passengers provided vouchers for flights that the carrier cancelled or significantly delayed to notify those passengers that they have the option of a refund;
- b. the carrier updates its refund policies and contract of carriage provisions to make clear that it provides refunds to passengers if the carrier cancels a flight or makes a significant schedule change;
- c. the carrier reviews with its personnel, including reservationists, ticket counter agents, refund personnel, and other customer service professionals, the circumstances under which refunds should be made.

11. On May 12, 2020, the Department issued a notice³ in the form of answers to frequently asked questions regarding airline ticket refunds. In the answer to question 4 of the notice, the Department reiterates that airlines may not retroactively apply changes to their refund policies and must honor the policies in place at the time of ticket purchase.

D. Air Canada’s non-compliance and violations

12. Air Canada’s policy of not issuing prompt refunds for U.S. Flights that are significantly delayed or cancelled by the carrier for reasons outside its control, and regardless of the nonrefundability and cancellation penalty provisions of the

³ U.S. Department of Transportation, Office of Aviation Enforcement and Proceedings, Frequently Asked Questions Regarding Airline Ticket Refunds Given the Unprecedented Impact of the COVID-19 Public Health Emergency on Air Travel (See answer to question 4: “May airlines and ticket agents retroactively apply new refund policies?”) https://www.transportation.gov/airconsumer/FAQ_refunds_may_12_2020.

- purchased ticket, is in direct violation of its obligation to offer prompt refunds to affected consumers as per the rules detailed in the Department's Enforcement Notice.
13. Before March 19, 2020 (Attachments 6), Air Canada's policies indicated that consumers can receive refunds for schedule changes and cancellations attributed to the COVID-19 pandemic. However, and since that date, Air Canada changed its refund policies for cancellations and schedule changes in a way that negatively affects consumers by no longer permitting refunds (Attachments 7A, 7B and 8). The new policy is applied by Air Canada based on the date of the cancellation or schedule change, and regardless of the policy in place at the time the passenger purchased the ticket.
14. The aforementioned no-refund policy is applied by Air Canada regardless of the policies and terms in place at the time consumers purchased flight tickets, which stipulate that Air Canada will issue refunds for cancelled flights. Air Canada's policy constitutes an unfair or deceptive practice within the meaning of 49 U.S.C. § 41712.
15. According to 14 CFR § 399.80(1)(l), it is the policy of the Department to regard as an unfair or deceptive practice or unfair method of competition the practices enumerated in paragraphs (a) through (n) of this section by a ticket agent of any size and the practice enumerated in paragraph(s) by a ticket agent that sells air transportation online and is not considered a small business under the Small Business Administration's size standards set forth in 13 CFR 121.201:
- (l) Failing or refusing to make proper refunds promptly when service cannot be performed as contracted or representing that such refunds are obtainable only at some other point, thus depriving persons of the immediate use of the money to arrange other transportation, or forcing them to suffer unnecessary inconveniences and delays or requiring them to accept transportation at higher cost, or under less desirable circumstances, or on less desirable aircraft than that represented at the time of sale.

16. Many airlines are complying with their obligations to refund passengers, especially after the issuance of the Enforcement Notice on April 3rd. These airlines will be in an unfairly disadvantageous situation if other airlines, such as Air Canada are allowed to continue practices that violate the same obligations without incurring any penalty.

REQUESTED RESOLUTION

17. I am seeking the airline provide me with an Refund. In addition, I ask that the Department of Transportation to do the following:
- (1) Exercise its authority under 49 USC 41712 to open an investigation of Air Canada for its non-compliance with the Department's Enforcement Notice and the regulations on which the notice is based;
 - (2) Order Air Canada to comply with its obligation to offer prompt full refunds to original form of payment for U.S. flights that are significantly delayed or cancelled by the carrier, regardless of the reason of such flight disturbances and regardless of the nonrefundability or the cancellation penalty of the tickets purchased by affected customers.
 - (3) Order Air Canada to:
 - a. contact, in a timely manner, the passengers provided vouchers for U.S. Flights significantly delayed or cancelled by the carrier to notify those passengers that they have the option of a refund;

- b. update its refund policies, contract of carriage and tariff provisions to make clear that it provides prompt refunds to passengers if the carrier cancels a U.S. Flight or makes a significant schedule change, regardless of the reason of such flight disruptions and regardless of the nonrefundability or the cancellation penalty provisions of the tickets purchased by the affected customers;
 - c. review with its personnel, including reservationists, ticket counter agents, refund personnel, and other customer service professionals, the circumstances under which refunds should be made.
- (4) Impose appropriate civil penalties on Air Canada.

JUN 19, 2020, 12:46 PM

Hello, I have had no luck reaching the call centre and I am hoping you can assist with my cancelled flights.

My wife, daughter and I were originally booked on AC519 on May 26, 2020 (booking reference LXMBBW), YVR-HNL and on AC518 on June 2, 2020 (booking reference LY9EP2), HNL-YVR. These flights were booked online on January 5, 2020. These flights were then changed/cancelled by AC on January 30, 2020 and rebooked as follows: AC519 on May 31, 2020 YVR-HNL and on AC518 on June 7, 2020 HNL-YVR (booking reference JABJGC).

I received emails from AC on April 9 that these flights were both cancelled again. The emails received stated that I could receive an airline credit. I do not accept any form of credit/voucher for these flights. I am requesting a full refund, as Air Canada has failed to provide the services contracted. The United States Department of Transportation requires airlines operating to and from the USA to issue refunds for cancelled flights. This enforcement notice was issued April 3, 2020. Air Canada's own schedule change guidelines states that refunds are to be processed to the original form of payment. Can you please confirm that I will be receiving a full refund for my above flights which were cancelled?"

Hello Amy,

Thank you for reaching out to us. The flight cancellation being cancelled in relation with COVID 19 pandemic, Air Canada offer the possibility to turn the value of the ticket into evoucher with no expiry date. This evoucher can be used toward the rebooking of a flight with no penalty fee.

Best regards /Terry

Hello AC/Terry, I did not and do not accept vouchers. Air Canada is required, by law, to provide a refund to the original form of payment. Respectfully, govern yourself accordingly.

Our policy is in compliance and we continue to work with international regulators as the situation develops. Although we do our best to assist our passengers that been impacted by this pandemic, flight cancellations are also out of our control (government regulations). The Canadian Transportation Agency has provided some guidelines to allow both parties (passengers/airlines) to minimize the impact of this pandemic. Our policy is aligned with our contract of carriage and Canadian Regulations (APPR) that apply to all our flights to/from Canada even if the ticket is sold in the US.

Then we will have no choice but proceed with charge back anyway. ☹

Hello @aircanada

I have had no luck reaching the call centre and I am hoping you can assist with our cancelled flights. I am now using my social media presence to grab your attention in this urgent matter.

My family and I (4 passengers in total) were originally booked on AC519 on May 31, 2020 YVR-HNL and on AC518 on June 7, 2020 HNL-YVR (booking reference JABJGC and JBDJZK). These flights were booked online on January 30, 2020.

I received emails from AC on April 9 that these flights were cancelled. The emails received stated that I could receive an airline credit. I do not accept any form of credit/voucher for these flights. I am requesting a full refund, as Air Canada has failed to provide the services contracted. The United States Department of Transportation under the US DoT Enforcement Notice requires airlines operating to and from the USA to issue refunds for cancelled flights. This enforcement notice was issued April 3, 2020. Air Canada's own schedule change guidelines states that refunds are to be processed to the original form of payment. Can you please confirm that I will be receiving a full refund for my above flights which were cancelled?" ☹

Hello Amy,

We regret we will be unable to offer you a refund as per the fare rule of your ticket. We have implemented highly flexible and expanded booking options. You can make a one-time change without a fee for all new or existing bookings made through June 30, 2020 for original travel between March 1, 2020 and June 30, 2021. However, for any refund request, the original fare rule of your ticket will apply.

Regards,

Air Canada Social Media /Sam

Air Canada cancelled our flights and never provided the services paid for, therefore by law AC must refund the services not rendered via original form of payment. It has nothing to do with the rule of the fare purchased! ☹

If you booked directly with Air Canada, please select one of the following:

Air Canada has already cancelled my booking

If you have a booking cancelled by Air Canada for travel prior to March 1, 2020, please click here to learn more about your options.

If you have a booking cancelled by Air Canada for travel after March 1, 2020, you have several options available to you depending on the type of fare you purchased and whether the cancellation was within Air Canada's control.

Cancellations outside of Air Canada's control

If Air Canada has already cancelled your booking, and the cancellation is outside of Air Canada's control (for example, due to the impacts of COVID-19, government travel advisories and/or health and safety concerns), you have two expanded options to choose from:

1. Air Canada Travel Voucher – Transfer the remaining value of all tickets in a booking and associated services to an Air Canada Travel Voucher. The voucher has no expiry date, is fully transferable and can be used multiple times.
2. Aeroplan Miles – Convert and transfer the remaining value of all tickets and associated services in a booking, minus any taxes, into Aeroplan Miles, and get an additional 65% bonus miles.

If you purchased a non-refundable fare, please note that in accordance with government regulations, non-refundable bookings that are cancelled due to the impacts of COVID-19, government travel advisories and/or health and safety concerns are outside of Air Canada's control and ineligible for a refund.

If you purchased a refundable fare, you have the additional option of returning the remaining refundable value of all tickets and associated services in a booking, minus any applicable fees, back to your original form of payment.

Cancellations within Air Canada's control

For both refundable fares and non-refundable fares, if Air Canada has already cancelled your booking, and the cancellation is within Air Canada's control, you have three expanded options to choose from:

1. Air Canada Travel Voucher – Transfer the remaining value of all tickets in a booking and associated services to an Air Canada Travel Voucher. The voucher has no expiry date, is fully transferable and can be used multiple times.
2. Aeroplan Miles – Convert and transfer the remaining value of all tickets and associated services in a booking, minus any taxes, into Aeroplan Miles, and get an additional 65% bonus miles.
3. Return to original form of payment – Return the remaining refundable value of all tickets in a booking and associated services back to your original form of payment.

Refund Options

 For flight cancellations due to the impacts of COVID-19, government travel advisories and/or health and safety concerns, click here.

In the event of a flight cancellation or a delay of more than three hours, for situations other than those outside our control, Air Canada offers you the option of requesting a refund for the unused portion of your ticket, or using the unused portion toward future travel with us. Cancellations resulting from the COVID-19 crisis are considered outside our control.

To Request a Refund

If your flight is cancelled or delayed by more than 3 hours for reasons other than those outside Air Canada's control, and you'd like to obtain a refund for the unused portion of your ticket (including some fees and/or purchased travel options), please call Air Canada Reservations. You'll be directed to present your refund request via your original point of purchase.

If you choose to request a refund, the method with which you are refunded will accord with the method in which you paid. Your refund will include your fare and all taxes, as well as certain charges paid for added travel options.

To Retain the Ticket Value for Future Travel

To retain the value of your ticket for future travel:

- Contact Air Canada Reservations. Please provide the booking reference number or ticket number. A customer service agent will cancel your current reservation.
- Air Canada will retain the value of all unused portions of your ticket and certain related travel options. (Fares available online are not necessarily available through Air Canada Reservation.)
- You may also cancel your entire reservation or all remaining portions of your ticket online. Please keep your booking reference number so we can better assist you when you are ready to use the value of your ticket.

When you're ready to use the unused portion of your ticket for travel with us:

- Please contact Air Canada Reservations, and make sure to have your booking reference handy.
- Please keep in mind that:
 - Any change fee associated to your original ticket will be waived.
 - The value can be used for future travel on Air Canada, Air Canada rouge or Air Canada Express.
 - Unused non-refundable travel options, such as assigned seat selection, Maple Leaf Lounge access, and Air Canada Bistro snack or meal vouchers may be used on future flights, subject to availability.
 - If your ticket is fully unused, you must commence your travel within 12 months of the original issue date.
 - If your ticket was partially used, you must complete your travel within 12 months of the first used portion.
 - Tickets are non-transferable: the original booking passenger(s) must use their respective amount(s).
 - Any amount remaining unused after booking a new flight is forfeited.
